

TEXT: KYLIE KNOTT / SCMP; IMAGES: CORBIS

Clockwise from left: Singapore at night, chili crabs, rooftop cool at Ku De Ta, iFly Singapore and a picture of the Black Eyed Peas taken by Wong (bottom left).

WONG'S HOME COMFORTS

TO EAT

WHERE: Sin Huat Seafood Restaurant (659 Geylang Rd)
It's been around for ages - it's not fancy but it is bright and noisy and popular with the late-night party crowd.
WOW FACTOR: The pepper crab and chili crab - both are unforgettable.

WHERE: Lim Seng Lee Duck Rice Eating House (38 South Buona Vista Road)
This place serves one main dish - the soy duck and only a couple of side dishes. It's served with porridge or rice.
WOW FACTOR: Simple. The teochew braised duck.

TO DRINK

WHERE: Ku De Ta (1 Bayfront Ave Marina Bay Sands SkyPark; kudeta.com.sg)
Part inside part outside this is the place to see Singapore and be seen.
WOW FACTOR: Best sunset views of the city. Don't miss the poolside terrace.

WHERE: BluJaz Cafe (11 Bali Lane; blujaz.net)
I'm a huge fan of this place and not just because I'm a huge fan of jazz. This place is a perfect mix of live music and comfort food. I used to play the saxophone and have photographed many jazz musicians, so this is the perfect setting for me.
WOW FACTOR: It's in the Muslim district so it's rich culturally and architecturally.

SIGHTS

WHERE: iFly@Singapore (Siloso Beach, Sentosa; iflysingapore.com)
One for adrenaline lovers. It's the world's largest indoor skydiving wind tunnel and only new to Singapore (it opened in April). I've not experienced it but my friends and their kids have and they loved it.
WOW FACTOR: I imagine the views of the South China Sea are amazing.

